

Habilitation rules for cumulative dissertation at the Department of Psychology, University Fribourg

Version 05.07.2013, revision (1) 18.02.2014, revision (2) 31.05.2021

- 1) The candidates have to submit minimum six coherent papers and must have published at least 2 more publications.
- 2) They have to be first authors on at least 4 of the 6 coherent papers and on the remaining two they must be either first or last authors.
- 3) The publications should present original empirical data, exceptions have to be discussed with the internal panel.
- 4) Four of the 6 publications should be in leading journals of the discipline (to be decided by an internal panel)
- 5) Internally we communicate about habilitation candidates before going to Faculty
- 6) Papers from own dissertation research cannot be included.
- 7) Form of the habilitation: There should be an introduction presenting the research field, a short summary of each paper with description of own contribution and a conjunctive conclusion. The numbers of pages for the Introduction is a maximum of 10 pages.

Habilitation as monography, amendment 18.02.2014, revision (1) 31.05.2021, revision (2):

- 8) Habilitation theses can be submitted as a monography
- 9) The scientific requirements in terms of publications are however the same as for the cumulative habilitation.
- 10) In exceptional cases, the individual scientific records need to be evaluated as equivalent by the professors of the Department.

Supervision of Bachelor and Master theses and teaching:

External and internal candidates should have experience in supervising Bachelor and / or Master theses at UniFR or at another institution.

In addition, they should have post-doctoral teaching experience, including a minimum of four courses (equaling 2SWS, 3 ECTS) for Bachelor or Master students at the Department of Psychology of the UniFR.

Didactic Training:

External and internal candidates should have attended basic classes in didactics at UniFR or other institutions.