Open Access an der Universität Freiburg

Open Access-Politik der Universität Freiburg

Die Universität

1. erwartet von ihren Mitgliedern, dass sie ihre Publikationen über den goldenen Weg im Open Access veröffentlichen oder über den grünen Weg archivieren;

2. verlangt die Hinterlegung einer digitalen Kopie des Volltextes und der entsprechenden Metadaten im institutionellen Repositorium,\(^1\) dies schnellstmöglich und spätestens zum Publikationszeitpunkt. Die Zugänglichkeit zum Volltext kann dabei falls nötig einer Embargofrist unterstellt werden;\(^2\)

3. ermutigt ihre Forschenden nachdrücklich, sich sämtliche oder ein Maximum an Urheberrechten vorzubehalten. Dies kann mit dem Verlag über einen Anhang zum Publikationsvertrag geregelt werden. Möglichst freie Lizenzen sind zu bevorzugen (CC-BY);

Advantages of the Green Road of OA

• Way of complying with the open access policies.
• Way of not being limited in the choice of journal to publish in. Allowed by 80% of the publishers - usually under certain conditions.
• Free of charges.
• Increases the visibility of articles. Indexed by all major search engines.
• Digital preservation insured by institutions, e.g. in case of bankruptcy of the publisher.
Legal aspects

Loi sur le droit d’auteur (LDA)
Vs.
Code des obligations -> Du contrat d’édition (CO 380 sq.)
Vs.
Le contrat lui-même

In other words, a publishing contract can be concluded without a written or oral agreement but entirely through the corresponding conduct by the author and publisher. For this reason, there is in legal terms a publishing contract even if the legally ignorant author is of the opinion that he has not concluded a contract or has “not signed anything”.
