

The recently established National Center of Competence in Research nccr – on the move aims to enhance the understanding of contemporary migration patterns. Transcending disciplines, the NCCR brings together research projects from the social sciences, economics and law. Managed by the University of Neuchâtel, the network comprises seven universities in Switzerland.

To complete her research team, Prof. Sarah Progin-Theuerkauf at the University of Fribourg (Law Faculty), who is also Co-Director of the Swiss Center for Migration Law based in Neuchâtel, is seeking a candidate for a

Postdoc position (80 %) for a four year appointment

The successful applicant will be expected to help develop and conduct a project on EU migration law.

Requirements for the position

- PhD in EU or international law or national migration law, which you have completed no longer than four years ago;
- sound knowledge of and interest for EU migration law issues;
- interest to work in a multilingual team;
- Working language within the NCCR is English. Very good knowledge of German and French (native or native-level) is necessary.

The main place of employment is the University of Fribourg; candidates will however be required to participate in NCCR activities at the Universities of Neuchâtel and Berne.
