

A detailed historical illustration depicting the transatlantic slave trade. In the foreground, a white man in a top hat and a black man in a white shirt and blue headwrap are shown. The black man is being led by a white man in a brown coat and top hat. In the background, a large group of black men are being transported on a ship, and a white man is holding a whip. The scene is set on a tropical island with palm trees and a thatched hut.
