

Space Insight Day

A unique opportunity for students and young professionals to gain a first-hand insight from those working in the space sector on today's challenges and opportunities.

23 March 2017
10.00am – 16.00pm
Room A
ESA Headquarters, Paris

Further information is available at www.esa.int/ecsl
To register (free of charge), contact the ECSL at ecsl@esa.int

ECSL Space Insight Day

The overall objective of the ECSL is to encourage interest in and knowledge of space law, a broad area of law which is becoming increasingly important both at the national and international level. In addition to initiatives like essay competitions, training and educational opportunities as well as networking events for students and young professionals, the ECSL is keen to develop and continue to be an invaluable resource in Europe for those engaged in or curious about this sector and area of law.

The ECSL Space Insight Day is an initiative of the Student Representative, Victoria Schebek and was approved by the ECSL Board in 2016. Its purpose is to provide students and young professionals with a first-hand insight into the daily business of those working across the space sector as well the challenges and opportunities currently facing the sector. By doing so, this event seeks to provide attendees with a better understanding of career opportunities in the sector, the role of law, policy and regulation in the sector both now and in the future, and to have the chance to network both with space representatives and fellow students and young professionals.

The structure of this one-day event will comprise different sessions given by various space experts. The aim is to provide an overview of current issues in the areas of science, technology, insurance, finance, law and policy as well as to give some insight into the speaker's career path.

The day is not intended to take the form of a traditional lecture; it is an interactive event in which attendees are actively encouraged to participate in discussions and exchange views.

How to Participate

This event is primarily aimed at students (all disciplines) and young professionals (under 35) working in the space sector or related fields, or simply interested to find out more about what is happening in the industry today.

Once registered, you will be asked to submit at least one question you would like to ask one or more of the speakers. This can relate to the particular topic about which they will be speaking or anything else related to the space sector, educational opportunities or career options.

To register

To register, please email the ECSL Executive Secretary at ecsl@esa.int by Friday 17 March 2017 along with the following information:

- Name
- University/Company/Firm/Organisation:
- Nationality:
- Age
- Country of work/study:
- Email:
- Telephone:

European Centre for Space Law (part of the European Space Agency)

Executive Secretariat

8-10 rue Mario Nikis

75738 Paris Cedex 15

France

ecsl@esa.int | www.esa.int/ecsl

T +33 1 53 69 73 53

ECSL@LinkedIn